DETAILED ACTION

1. Entry of the substitute specification of May 8, 2006 is approved.
2. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the CCD Camera and the CMOS camera (see claim 9), the drilling laser (see claim 11) must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

3. Claims 7-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. It is unclear how the determination is made that "a bore wall has solidified" since no sensor (or sensors) is disclosed for determining that the bore wall has solidified nor is it clear why the bore wall would necessarily solidify before the next laser pulse is "introduced to the bore hole". The terminology of "introducing the bore hole in a workpiece by laser pulses" is broad enough to include using laser pulses that creates plasma that in turn can "introduce the bore wall". There is no support for this in the instant specification. Furthermore for the characteristic time interval to start requires melting of the bore wall. Respectfully suggest amending claim 7 on line 2 to "shaping the bore hole in a workpiece by laser pulses that cause melting of a bore wall" to obviate this part of the 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph rejection.

4. The claims patentably define over the prior art of record under 35 USC 102 and 35 USC 103, but are rejected under 35 USC 112, first paragraph in the proceeding paragraph.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Duffin in U.S. patent No. 6,201,214 discloses using a camera to monitor laser drilling of the workpiece. Somers et al. in U.S. patent No. 5,026,964 uses a reference photodetector (element 40) to detect the radiation from the laser pulses and a photodetector (element 42) to detect the laser radiation reflected from the workpiece and the radiation from the heated melted particles created from the laser pulses striking the workpiece. Ortiz, Jr. et al. in U.S. Patent No. 5,045,669 acoustically and optically monitors the laser drilling during the laser pulse duration. Hirose et al. in U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2002/0033384 discloses a laser beam creating holes by the process of sublimation, i.e. no melting is present in creation of the hole.
